FINAL TRIBUTE TO A. E. BLECKMAN

OBSEQUIES AT FAMILY HOME
THIS MORNING

REV. FAVILLE GIVES ORATION

Deals With Life and Accomplishments of the Deceased—Rev.
Hoag Assists in Services.

Final tribute to Attorney A. E. Bleckman, Sr., long one of the leading attorneys of western Wisconsin, who died at his home, 25 South Ninth street, Monday morning, was paid today at the funeral, at the residence, and at Sparta, Wis., where interment was made.

The La Crosse County Bar association, of which Attorney Bleckman was a member, attended the funeral in a body, while a score or more of veterans of the civil war, were present at the funeral of their comrade. The Rev. J. W. Hoag, pastor of the First Baptist church, and the Rev. Henry Faville, pastor of the First Congregational church, conducted the services. The oration of the Rev. Faville, a life time friend and acquaintance of Attorney Bleckman was touching. He traced the life of Mr. Bleckman and told of his accomplishments.

The services were held at the home at 10:30 o'clock. At the conclusion of these rites, the body was escorted to the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul depot, and taken to Sparta, the former home of Mr. Bleckman, where interment was made. The pallbearers were chosen from the ranks of the La Crosse County Bar association. The pallbearers were W. F. Wolfe, E. F. Bryant, Frank Winter, C. L. Baldwin, Mills Tourtellotte and George W. Bunge.

Later a day will be set aside for Judge Fruit for special memorial services for Attorney Bleckman, at which the bar association will pay honor to the dead.

PROGRAM FOR THE ONALASKA MUSICAL

- Director and accompanist—Harry Packman.

SHERIFF LAKES TWO TO WAUPUN

Sheriff C. J. Burns left yesterday for Waupun, Wis., and Green Bay, Wis., with two prisoners. Earl Bean, sentenced to Waupun for nine months on Saturday for abandoning his wife and child, was taken to Waupun. Gorman T. Gorman, who pleaded guilty to robbing the store of the West Salem Cash Trading association on Dec. 19, and pleaded guilty, was taken to the Wisconsin Reformatory at Green Bay to begin his sentence of two years. Alfred Olson, implicated in the theft of Gorman, was acquitted by a jury in circuit court after a three days' trial.

NOBLE WOMEN IN HIGH ARMY SCANDALS

BURLIN, Jan. 29.—Dr. Leo Leipziger, editor of the Weekly Roland Von Perlin, follows in Editor Harden's footsteps in this week's issue of his paper with fresh charges of scandals in high army circles. He varies Harden's stories, however, by asserting many noble women are involved in the shocking immoralities. The authorities are trying to hush up the charges.

CARNATION DAY.

Today was "McKinley day," but few La Crosse people wore the customary carnation, the favorite flower of the martyred president. In the larger cities McKinley day is generally observed, and hundreds are seen wearing the flower.

Local florists say that there was no perceptible increase in the sale of carnations.

DEMOCRATS HOLD CONVENTION FEB. 8

COUNTY CHAIRMAN DOHERTY ISSUED CALL TODAY.

WILL ELECT 16 DELEGATES

To the Democratic State Convention,
Feb. 13, Which Elects National Delegates

County Democratic Chairman John F. Doherty today issued the following call for the democratic county convention, Feb. 8, at which delegates will be elected to the state democratic convention:

"A mass convention of the democrats of La Crosse county is hereby called to meet in the council chamber in the city hall in the city of La Crosse, on Saturday, February 8, at one o'clock p. m., for the purpose of electing sixteen (16) delegates to represent La Crosse county in the democratic state convention to be held in Milwaukee on February 13, 1908, at which convention delegates will be proposed to be voted for at the primaries, as such, for the democratic national convention to be held at Denver, July 1, 1908.

"An invitation is extended to all voters of La Crosse county, regardless of their past party affiliation, who believe in the principles enunciated by the democratic party, to attend this mass convention, and cooperate with their fellows in the organization of our forces for the battle of 1908.

"It is expected that each and every precinct in La Crosse county will be well represented at this mass convention."

County Officers.

Attorney John F. Doherty is the county chairman of the democratic county committee and City Clerk J. A. Sieger is the secretary.

The executive committee is composed of Messrs. Joseph Boschert, C. H. Berry, John C. Burns, C. W. Hunt, Geo. Falk and A. A. Bentley.

The county committee is represented in the various wards of the city of La Crosse by the following:

L. C. Sander, West Salem.

NESSLER SUIT STARTS

The suit of the heirs of Miss Mayme Nessler, the North side school teacher, who was killed at the Mill street crossing of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway company last summer by a passenger train, was reached in circuit court this afternoon. The heirs, through Attorneys Morris and Hartwell, ask $5,000 damages.

Following is the jury: William Schams, J. E. Gelwitz, John Hiten, L. Sprain, J. F. Cross, Karl Kurtenacker, P. J. Burns, Richard Melnick, James Harner, H. G. Poehling, B. Trepte and William Walters.

Attorneys Morris and Hartwell were outlining their case to the jury at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon.

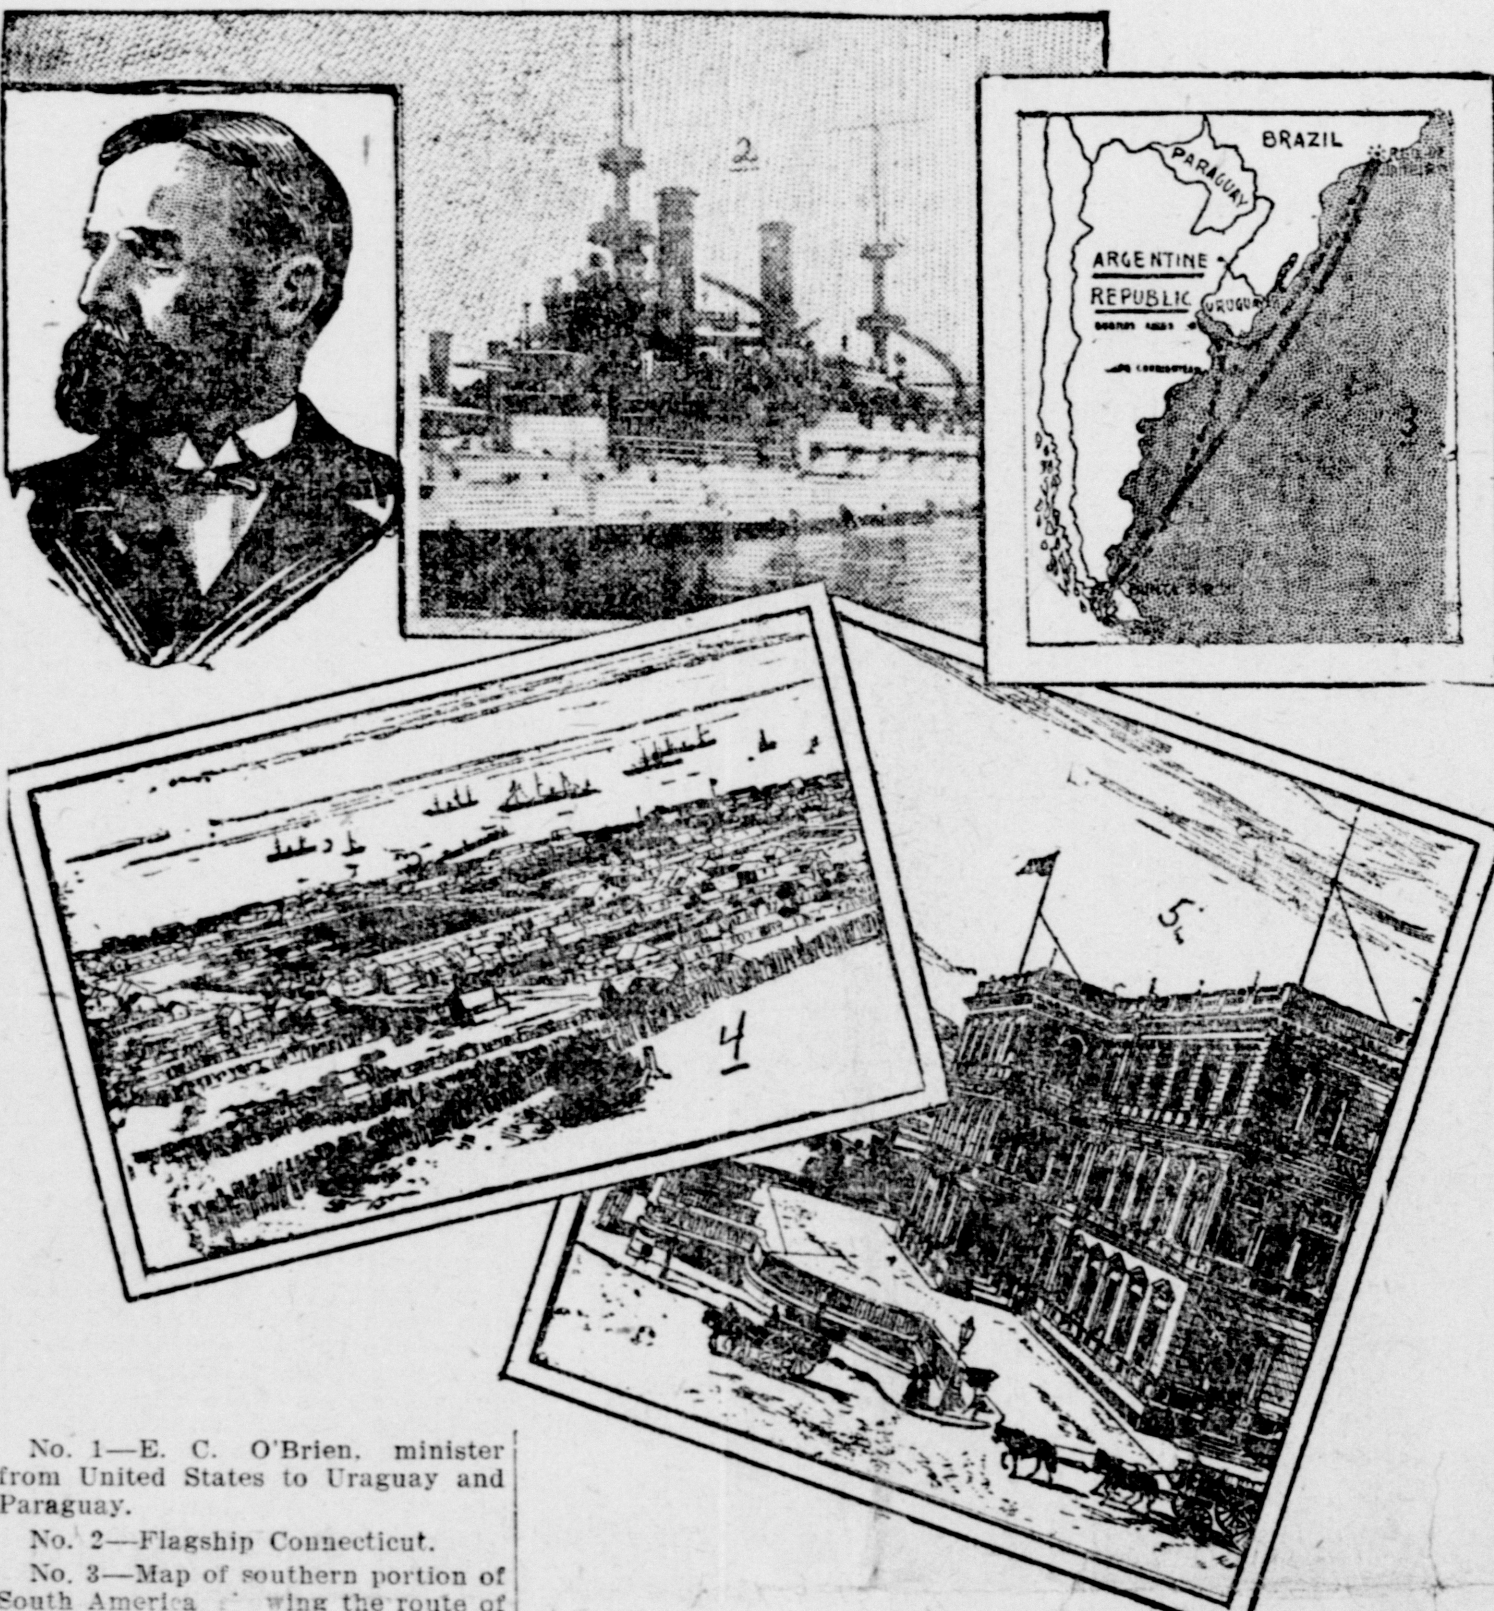

Jury Hears Testimony.

The jury in the suit of Sidney H. Stuart against the Farmers' State bank of Cuba City, Wis., for the recovery of $8,000, an alleged preferred payment to the bank in the bankruptcy of Richard Luckey, returned this afternoon at 2 o'clock and asked to have the testimony of Luckey read. Court Reporter Harrison read the testimony and the jury returned to deliberate the merits of the action. A decision is expected today.

TRAINS LATE.

Mail trains from the east and north were delayed from 1 to 3 hours today by the cold.

OFFICERS OF TORPEDO FLOTILLA ARE ROYALLY GREETED BY OFFICIALS AT BUENOS AYRES; FLEET GOES ON

No. 1—E. C. O'Brien, minister from United States to Uruguay and Paraguay.

No. 2—Flagship Connecticut.

No. 3—Map of southern portion of South America showing the route of the torpedo boat flotilla by dotted line and route of Admiral Evans' fleet by solid black line.

No. 4—Punta Arenas.

No. 5—President's palace on the Plaza Victoria, Buenos Ayres.

BUENOS AYRES, Jan. 29.—The officers of the American torpedo boat flotilla who arrived here Sunday from Rio Janeiro, were received by President Alcora.

No word has been received here of the meeting on the high seas between the American fleet of battleships and the Argentine squadron that put out to welcome them.

The battleship squadron proceeded direct from Rio de Janeiro to Punta Arenas without stopping at Buenos Ayres.

PUERTA ARENAS, Chile, Jan. 29.—The Chilean cruiser Chacabuco, with the United States minister, Mr. Hicks, and a number of Chilean officials on board, has arrived here. The cruiser comes to welcome the American fleet of battleships to Chilean waters.

Admiral Evans and the battleships are now about to encounter the most difficult part of their entire trip—that through the Strait of Magellan. A celebration also awaits them when they anchor off the port of Punta Arenas. United States minister to Uruguay, E. C. O'Brien, accompanied by some of the most prominent members of the American colony, will journey down to Punta Arenas and meet the fleet there. This party will travel on a specially chartered steamer.

Punta Arenas, as indicated on the map, is at the extreme end of the continent of South America. The town offers very little of interest to the visitor. To the north is a government depot and still out beyond this is an old lighthouse tower painted red and white, which was used by the German astronomical commission at the time of the last passage of Venus. Beyond the lighthouse the land becomes flat and stretches out to the water, forming a long sandy spot, with a chronicle beacon at the extreme point. Hence the name of the settlement, Sandy Point. The town is of recent origin but it has grown rapidly and now has a population of about 1,500 people, the chief capitalists and business people being German or English. The houses are solidly built of wood, the best of them having corrugated iron roofs. Most of the buildings are painted white. Some have walls and roofs of the same deep red color. Punta Arenas is a free port.

Admiral Betbeder, the Argentine minister of marine, joins Rear Admiral Evans and his command off Cape Corrientes and proceeds with the fleet to Punta Arenas. From Punta Arenas the fleet pro-

CORTELYOU TAKES CREDIT FOR RELIEF

SENDS 15,000 WORD ANSWER TO SENATE INQUIRY

DID NOT ACT WILLINGLY

But Declares it Was for the Best Interests of the Country—Panama Bonds Oversubscribed

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 29.—"In every measure taken, the secretary has felt he was bound to have regard not simply to the operations of the treasury, but to their effect upon the financial condition of the country. The present head of the department has not assumed this obligation willingly, and would be glad to be relieved of it, at least in part, by suitable legislation."

Thus Cortelyou, responding to the senate resolution of inquiry, includes a 15,000 word statement in justification of his radical methods.

He reviews the financial situation, claiming full credit for the prevention of a disastrous panic. He meets the charges of favoritism in the distribution of money by saying the funds went to forty states. He shows the Panama bond issue was oversubscribed, there being more than 44 bids aggregating $2,220,604.80.

PRIMARY BILL IS PASSED IN ILLINOIS

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Jan. 29.—The house passed the Oglesby-Jones primary bill today by a vote of 88 to 32.

CROWDS TO HEAR LITTLETON SUM UP

THAW'S RELATIVES ARE ALL IN COURT TODAY

THAW SMILES AS HE ENTERS

Mother is Visibly Ill as She Sits
Next to Evelyn; Many Friends of Littleton in Room

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—The announcement that Littleton would sum up, drew an unusual crowd today.

Evelyn sat with Mrs. Carnegie. The prisoner's mother was plainly ill on the other side of her daughter. Several women friends of Littleton were present. Among the spectators were Sir A. Johnson, British minister to Denmark who is visiting this country.

As Thaw entered he bowed and smiled to his relatives and talked earnestly with Littleton. In a few minutes Littleton began speaking.

QUEER AGREEMENT BETWEEN FARMERS

Two deeds, which tell a queer tale, were filed with the register of deeds today. One is a deed from Ole Fredrickson to P. G. Larson, transferring a farm in the town of Farmington for $4,800. The other is a lease between Larson and Ole Fredrickson, whereby Fredrickson agrees to supply Larson with sufficient dry stove wood for the rest of his life, to keep the house in repair, and pay the insurance.

SUCCESS ATTENDS GROCERS' BALL

LARGE ATTENDANCE AT THE

EXCELLENT SUPPER SERVED

Music by Kreutz's Orchestra Feature of the Evening and Dancing

The fifth annual ball of the La Crosse Retail Grocers' association was given in the Linker hall last evening and proved to be one of the most enjoyable events of the season. Shortly after 9 o'clock the guests commenced to arrive and it was not until the floor was fairly crowded that the steady stream from the streets ceased. The hall was very prettily decorated with the national colors and flags were draped about the hall and grouped into cozy corners at the ends of the hall, which proved to be one of the feature attractions.

Kreutz's orchestra furnished the music and it proved to be most attractive, and received favorable comment during the entire evening.

At 11 o'clock the committee in charge of the supper announced that the refreshments were ready and the guests were ushered into an adjoining room formerly occupied by the Elks' lodge, which had been decorated for the occasion. The tables were prettily arranged with the national colors and greens. Following the supper dancing was resumed until an early hour.

TIED KNOT, NOW ASKED TO UNTIE IT

JUDGE DANIELS RETAINED BY
MRS. TACY FERRICK

HUSBAND KNOCKED HER DOWN

Such Is Claim of North Side Woman
Who Goes to Justice Who Married Them, After Separation

Married three years ago by a justice of the peace, the wife of the ill-mated couple today started a suit for divorce, retaining the justice who performed the ceremony, to untie the legal bonds.

On Jan. 19, 1905, Tacy Ferrick and Thomas Ferrick, 1531 Kane street, were married by Judge John A. Daniels. To all appearances at the time the marriage was a happy one, and the couple left the office of the judge, with the best wishes for a long and prosperous married life. Since then Judge Daniels has changed his opinion, for the wife accuses her husband of cruel and inhuman treatment and demands a divorce.

In the divorce complaint, Mrs. Ferrick alleges her husband came home drunk on or about Jan. 17, 1906, and knocked her down with a blow from his fist. Then the anger of the husband, she says, cooled and he assisted her to her feet, only to turn angry and knock her to the floor again. On or about June 15, 1907, Mrs. Ferrick declares her husband came home intoxicated, struck her and took their baby from her. He also took the money she had and left her in a destitute condition. Mrs. Ferrick declares she was compelled to seek assistance from her father.

Possession of their one child Edna Adella Ferrick, now aged 16 months, is asked by the woman, with a suitable allowance from her husband for her care and education.

"When I married the couple, I thought it was happy wedding," said Judge Daniels today. "Since I have heard the story of the wife, her being knocked down by a brute of a husband, assisted to her feet, and felled again, I have changed my mind."

"I remember the day of the wedding as though it were yesterday. I tied the knot then, and now I am retained to undo my own work."

CITY HEAT PATRONS SHIVER FOR HOURS

Patrons of the City Heating system last night shivered for hours if they happened to be on the South of Main street circuit, as the result of the breaking of defective pipe in front of the Y. M. C. A. The accident happened in the early morning, and it was not for several hours that the heat began to make itself felt again. Even this morning residents in the outlying districts complained that their homes were cold.

The accident was regarded as unavoidable and was repaired with all possible speed.

Oil stoves and wood heaters came into play wherever they were in the house, but occupants of homes, especially new ones, which had no other means of keeping warm suffered considerably.

GOSNELL NO BETTER; RELATIVES ARRIVE

The condition of Attorney L. W. Gosnell, who is confined at his home at 509 South Ninth street, is about the same. Attending doctors report that there has been no improvement and the report circulated yesterday to the effect that he was much improved was a mistake.

Mrs. M. P. Gosnell and daughter of Baltimore, Md., mother and sister of Mr. Gosnell, arrived yesterday in response to a telegram stating his condition.

LEWIS IS TO HEAD THE UNITED MINE WORKERS

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Jan. 29.—Before evening the Miners' convention will have the report of the canvassing committee on the election of officers.

Without doubt Thomas L. Lewis has been made president; John P. White, vice president; W. B. Ryan of Illinois, secretary and treasurer.

The miners will be ready tomorrow to meet the operators.

Both sides have been brought to realize what ending the interstate agreement will mean and it is believed here a strike is bound to be the outcome.

MIHLBAUER'S DEATH RESULTS IN SUIT.

The parents of Carl Mihlbauer, the young man who was struck and killed by a street car in the 1000 block on Caledonia street, have already brought suit against the street car company for damages to the extent of $5,000.

Attorneys Morris and Hartwell, who now have three cases of a similar nature in hand, were given the case and will file a complaint against the street car company soon.

MERCURY TOUCHES 13 BELOW AT 8 A.M.

COLDEST WEATHER OF WINTER
RECORDED THIS MORNING

MODERATION IS PREDICTED

Weather Forecaster Says Cold Wave
Will Continue Tonight, But Tomorrow Warmer.

At 8 o'clock this morning the Weather Bureau reported the thermometer registered 13 degrees below zero, the coldest this winter. Between 6 o'clock last evening until noon today, the warmest temperature was at 9 o'clock p. m., when the mercury registered zero. After 7 o'clock, when the effects of the cold wave reached the city, the thermometer fell slowly until 8 o'clock this morning when 13 below was reached, and during the next hour a rise of 2 degrees was noticed. At noon today the thermometer was at 6 degrees below.

The cold spell that is prevalent over the northwestern is general, extending from North Dakota to the Great Lakes and south as far as Texas. At Easton, North Dakota, the thermometer registered 36 degrees below zero, the coldest recorded in any city in the United States. At the northern part of the same state reports show that the mercury fell to 28 below zero.

Moderate weather is reported in the New England states and also through the western coast states.

The weather forecast for today predicts that by tomorrow the weather will moderate, while the present cold spell will continue tonight.

The hourly temperature from 6 o'clock last evening until noon today is as follows:

THE "POOR MAN'S PARLIAMENT" OPENS

LONDON, Jan. 29.—The "poor man's parliament" convened today.

It was so christened by the press in advance, because of the great mass of proposed legislation of interest chiefly to the working classes.

The king drove down in state from Buckingham palace to read his address.

The session promises to be far from the usual kind.

LONDON, Jan. 29.—The king and queen had a narrow escape from falling into the hands of Suffragettes during the drive to open parliament today. Usual precautions were taken to keep back the crowds, but no particular attention was paid to a little group of Suffragettes.

Miss Fetherbert, one of the best known leaders marshaled the detachment. As the king's carriage drove up, she suddenly dodged the police rushed straight at the king waving a banner bearing "Vote for the women."

Policemen finally reached her and pulled her back into the crowd.

WEATHER FORECAST

Coldest, 13 below; warmest, 14 above; wind, 6 miles; snowfall, none. Winnipeg with 36 below, and 78 at San Antonio were the extremes of temperature.

Forecast today: Wisconsin—Fair tonight; probably followed by increasing cloudiness Thursday; rising temperature.

Minnesota—Fair tonight, probably followed by increasing cloudiness Thursday; rising temperature.

Iowa—Generally fair in east portion; probably snow flurries in west portion tonight or Thursday; rising temperature.

Weather Conditions.

The crest of the high pressure area and cold wave are located this morning in the upper Mississippi valley and Manitoba, but their influence has extended as far south as Texas and east to the lower lake region. Through out these districts temperature has fallen 6 degrees to 24 degrees below zero in Minnesota and eastern North Dakota, and to 36 degrees below in Manitoba. It is warmer from western Montana to the Pacific coast.

Light rain or snow has occurred in the Rocky mountain districts and east of the Mississippi river.

MADISON, Wis., Jan. 29.—Official announcement was made last night by President Charles R. Van Hise of the appointment of Thomas Barry, formerly football coach at the University of Wisconsin. Nominally Barry will be an instructor in the physical training department at a salary of $1,500 per year. He will not assume his duties until after the opening of the second semester, Feb. 17.

Barry was unwilling to make any further statement than that he had been appointed a member of the faculty to take charge of outdoor athletics, particularly in baseball and football, but not as coach of the baseball and football teams. During the winter he will devote his attention to such indoor work as will prepare candidates for the baseball team.

He can not urge upon the student body too urgently the necessity of purchasing the coupon books which will furnish the funds to maintain athletics, said Barry. "There is not only a possibility, but a strong probability that intercollegiate athletics will not be retained this year, which includes the baseball and track schedules, unless the students purchase the minimum of 1,000 books required by the board of regents."

A Great Physiologist

Once Said the Way to Keep the Stomach Healthy Is to Exercise It.

But He Did Not Tell How to Make It Healthy.

The muscles of the body can be developed by exercise until their strength has increased manifold, and a proper amount of training each day will accomplish this result, but it is somewhat doubtful whether you can increase the digestive powers of the stomach by eating indigestible food in order to force it to work.

Nature has furnished us all with a perfect set of organs, and if they are not abused they will attend to the business required of them. They need no abnormal strength.

There is a limit to the weight a man can lift, and there is also a limit to what the stomach can do.

The cause of dyspepsia, indigestion and many affiliated diseases is that the stomach has been exercised too much and it is tired or worn out. Not exercise but rest is what it needs.

To take something into the stomach that will relieve it from its work for a short time—something to digest the food—will give it a rest and allow it time to regain its strength.

The proper aid to the digestive organs is Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, which cure dyspepsia, indigestion, gas on the stomach and bowels, heartburn, palpitation of the heart, and all stomach diseases.

Rest and invigoration is what the stomach gets when you use Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, for one grain of the active principle in them is sufficient to digest 2,000 grains of food.

The Tablets increase the flow of gastric juice, and prevent fermentation, acidity and sour eructations.

Do not attempt to starve out dyspepsia. You need all your strength. The common sense method is to digest the food for the stomach and give it a rest.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets do not make the cure, but enables the organs to throw off unhealthy conditions.

Perfect digestion means perfect health, for under these conditions only do the different organs of the body work right and receive the building-up material found in pure blood.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is a natural remedy and is a specific for stomach troubles. The ablest physicians prescribe them.

The Tablets are pleasant to the taste, and are composed of fruit and vegetable extracts, golden seal and pepsin.

At all drug stores—50 cents per package.

Send us your name and address to-day and we will at once send you by mail a sample package free. Address F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

JOHN A. MILLER A DIRECTOR

 Improve Grandstand and Bleachers
 at League Park—Wausau Signs
 Men—Eau Claire Warlike

John A. Miller, at a meeting of the directors of the La Crosse Baseball association yesterday, was elected as a director to succeed Lester Keene, who handed in his resignation a short time ago. The committee on a manager reported that at present no contract had been made with Hawley, and asked for further time, but no trouble is expected in coming to an understanding.

It was decided to extend the bleachers 50 feet and make other minor improvements on the grandstand.

Wausau Signs Players.
 George Ogden, pitcher, and Compton Scarlet, outfielder, Milford, Ind., have signed contracts to play with Wausau in the Wisconsin-Illinois league next season. The men are among the first of the new timber secured by Manager Ferguson to take the place of the men he lost by draft last fall.

Eau Claire is Warlike.
 Lawyers hired by the league directors expect to get "on the job" at once and try to have the Eau Claire franchise dissolved at the earliest possible moment, so that the plan of President McIl of the league and other friends of Rockford can go ahead with their scheme to install that town in place of the Eau Claire club. Eau Claire has engaged legal talent and will contend that the league has no right to oust them as this action would be confiscatory. They set forth that they have property of value and the taking away of the franchise would confiscate this property.

It is also pointed out by the Eau Claire management that the Rockford sports are a bunch of wind-jammers; that they are talking about 50,000 attendance, when, as a matter of fact, they were fired bodily from the Three Eye league for poor attendance after stringing along at the tail end of the percentage column all season.

La Crosse does not believe that the courts will grant the whim of the eastern clubs and President McIl to oust Eau Claire and thus render all of that club's property valueless, especially after the Eau Claire directors have guaranteed the required attendance, and have offered to make up any deficit to the league.

Madison has joined the howl to oust Eau Claire, but Madison has always been considered as one of the eastern end clubs and not entirely friendly with Eau Claire. Clubs opposing the Eau Claire club claim they are doing it on business principles, but in face of the Eau Claire club's preferred guarantee, this claim does not stand up very well.

HANG CONGRESSMEN
FOR TAKING MONEY

 (By J. C. Welliver.)
 WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—Both senate and house have been devoting much time lately to the pending legislation for revision of the federal criminal code. Incidental to this consideration, a tremendous lot of buncombe has been worked off. The most marvelous propositions have been advanced with the utmost apparent sincerity, by way of making pretty much everything criminal. Most of these had no chance of adoption, but they offered fine opportunities for a large number of members to make speeches for home consumption.

Especially was great eloquence devoted in the house to the effort to strengthen the law's prohibition against senators and representatives engaging in any money-earning employment than their official duties. A long list of amendments were proposed and advocated, some of which would have made it impossible for a statesman to conduct the business operation of selling property which he owned before coming to congress, in order to raise money to pay the expense of living in Washington. At least Representative Norris of Nebraska got up with an amendment that ended this line of buncombe. He moved:

"An amendment to provide that if any member of congress shall prac-

GOOD BLOOD
NATURE'S PROTECTION AGAINST DISEASE

The preservation of health and prevention against disease is almost entirely dependent upon pure, healthy blood; every organ, tissue, nerve and sinew of the body draws on this vital fluid for nourishment and strength. Poisons, humors and germs from various sources often get into the blood, and then this great life-stream becomes a source of infection and disease, instead of a nourishing, health-sustaining fluid. Heredity is likewise an important factor, regulating the quality of the blood. Some persons are born with tainted blood from diseased ancestry, and Scrofula in one of its numerous forms is sure to crop out some time in life. Not only poisons in the blood are responsible for disease, but when the circulation is run down and becomes poor and weak in quality, then we see the effect in a general bad condition of health, such as weakness, sallow complexions, boils, and various skin eruptions. All blood troubles require a tonic and blood purifier, and none other equals S. S. S. It goes down to the very foundation of the trouble, and removes every particle of the poison or impurity from the blood. And not only does S. S. S. antidote the poisons, humors and germs, but it possesses health-giving, tonic properties, which build up and strengthen weak, impoverished blood, and fortifies the system against disease. S. S. S. permanently cures Rheumatism, Catarrh, Sores and Ulcers, Scrofula, Eczema, Tetters, and all other skin diseases and disorders. Book on the blood and any medical advice free.

Mr. Norris spoke briefly and feelingly for his amendment. He said it had just as much sense in it as most of the others, and its adoption would do away with the necessity for any of the others. His remarks served the purpose of calling attention to the demagoguery of the whole discussion, and it was dropped right there.

THE WHITE HOUSE OF OUR SISTER REPUBLIC, MEXICO

The White house of Mexico is of even greater historic interest than the White house of the United States. As the residence of Mexico's chief executive it also houses a president, who is universally beloved in his own republic as the president of the United States is in his. President Diaz resides in the castle of Chapultepec as his official home. The Mexican presidential residence crowns a steep cliff two miles south of the city proper, with which it is connected by the famous boulevard Pasco. Great trees, chiefly cypress, surround the new Mexican White house, as they did the ancient palace of the Aztec Montezuma, which formerly stood triumphantly upon the brow of this same hill. The home of the national executive is palatial in extent and beauty. Terraces paved with marble surround the edifice and from there the view over the valley is one of the most magnificent in all the world. Within the building are great halls, staircases and galleries decorated with the most expensive and extravagant luxuries. The heights where the castle stands were the scene of a famous victory by United States troops in 1847. Thus the castle of Chapultepec, while intimately allied with the story of Mexico, is also allied with the story of the United States

Grip and Bronchitis

Mr. and Mrs. Christian Geisler, of 3434 A Street, Philadelphia, Pa., Have Just Celebrated Their Golden Wedding. Mr. Geisler Has Been Cured of Chronic Bronchitis, Mrs. Geisler of Grip and Indigestion by Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey.

In a letter just received Mr. Geisler wrote: "I had a very bad case of chronic bronchitis. After trying other remedies was cured by Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. My wife had grip and indigestion, and is being rapidly restored to health by Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. We can see a daily improvement in her. We have been married over fifty years. I send you this testimonial with pleasure, as I wish others to be benefited by Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey as we have been. I heartily endorse it as a tonic-stimulant."

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is an absolutely pure distillation of malted grain, great care being used to have every kernel thoroughly malted, thus destroying the germ and producing a predigested liquid food in the form of a malt essence, which is the most effective tonic stimulant and invigorator known to science; softened by warmth and moisture, its palatability and freedom from injurious substances render it so that it can be retained by the most sensitive stomach.

Sold by druggists, grocers and dealers or direct. $1 a bottle. Illustrated Medical Booklet containing a few of the many convincing testimonials received from grateful men and women who have been cured, and doctor's advice sent free. Duffy Malt Whiskey Co., Rochester, N. Y.

PARLOR BORDER CO. IS INCORPORATED

HAS A PLANT ON MILL STREET ON NORTH SIDE.

MAKE IMITATION LINOLEUM

Product Patented by R. C. McCaleb Will be Manufactured on Small Scale to Begin With.

In about two months a new plant which is to be known as the La Crosse Parlor Border company, will be opened for business on the North side.

The company was yesterday incorporated and articles of incorporation have been filed with State Secretary Frear with a capital stock of $5,000. The incorporators are W. B. Tschanner, A. W. Langenbach of Doerflingers, and Senator Thomas Morris.

When interviewed this morning Mr. Langenbach said that he did not think the plant would be in running order for about two months.

It is located on Mill street in the 500 block, where machinery has already been installed.

An imitation hardwood flooring, a patent of R. C. McCaleb, is to be manufactured.

"We will begin only on a small scale and after things have developed we will build a plant of our own," said Mr. Langenbach.

The entertainment given under the Ivy Camp of the Royal Neighbors by Lottie L. Tillotson of the Hawaiian Islands was a marked success. Miss Tillotson is not only a lecturer of ability, but she is also a fine elocutionist. CONTEST WILL BE TONIGHT

Po. ceman Puts Up His Money and Says He Will Be on Hand to Win the Bet

"Yes, the North side bowling team is about as fast as anything that ever rolled in La Crosse, and I'm not so slow myself for an old man," said Officer Alois Yehle to a few of his friends last evening. At this point a stranger who was standing near stepped up with the question: "What's this, bowling?"

He received an affirmative reply. "Well, I don't know what you fellows can do," he continued, "but I've got a man that I think can beat anything in town at that game."

"About how much have you got that says this wonder can beat me?" said Yehle.

At this the stranger with an amused smile calmly flashed a "five."

It was quickly covered by Mr. Yehle.

"I'll have that man at your son's alleys at 8 o'clock tomorrow evening and I'll guarantee that he will beat anything there."

"All right," said Yehle, "but don't forget the five."

Whether or not the man is a professional who is looking for something easy remains to be seen.

At any rate, Yehle says he will be there tonight prepared to meet whoever shows up.

SOUTHERN MINN. OFFICIALS CITED

Young Boy Confesses to The Murder of His Mother

HARVEY HAZEL AND HIS MOTHER WHOM HE KILLED

LELEDO, O., Jan. 29. — Harvey Hazel, the 17-year-old boy who brutally murdered his mother, has broken down both in spirit and body, and the insolent air when first locked up has been transformed into that of a repentant, whimpering sinner. He now fully realizes that his life must pay the penalty, either by imprisonment or death.

Mrs. George L. Chambers of Aurora, Ill., his aunt, brought about the sudden change in young Hazel. Dressed in deep mourning, she visited him at the police station and before she left him he had broken down completely. When informed that his girl was ill and that her mother's life was in danger he exhibited more concern than he did over the crime he committed.

Last night after he had broken down and cried Hazel expressed a desire to see his mother, whom he declares he loved. Her face now begins to haunt him.

"Why did you kill your mother?" was asked the boy. "You say that she was your best friend, and still you killed her."

"I don't know," he said. "Of course I felt bad when I couldn't get my girl friend a present for Christmas, and I've always wanted money, but don't know why I killed her; she was my best friend."

Young Hazel was rather wayward and because of differences with his father had not been staying at home. His mother was refined, loving and thought the world of her son, meeting him secretly and aiding him when others would not. He is thought to have brooded over the fact that he was unable to buy his girl a present.

Knowing that his father had been paid, he called his mother on the phone early in the morning, requesting that she meet him down town. This she did, and returned home with her son. Being refused money he seems to have determined to get it at any cost.

After chatting pleasantly with his mother at the dinner table he was assisting her in the repairing of a screen with hammer and nails.

While she was in a stooping position he crept behind her, panther like, and with a terrific swing of the arm in which he held a heavy hammer felled his mother to the ground. Fearing that he had not finished his work he again and again beat his mother's head with the awful weapon, crushing her head into a jelly.

Still mad with his murderous intent, he seized a latrine which he securely tied about her throat to prevent the raising of an alarm should he revive.

In his mad frenzied search for money he tore the clothing from his mother's person, and rushing upstairs took $57 from a dresser and then attempted to make the affair look like a burglary by ransacking the place. He took several rings and his mother's jewelry which he later buried near the home of his sweetheart.

The boy's father has disowned him and refused to get an attorney for him, saying that he hoped never again to see the boy's face.

"Do with him what you will," said the father. "I want to forget. This is driving me crazy, not alone the fact that my wife is murdered, but that my boy has done it."

Mrs. Hazel, the victim of her own son's brutality, formerly lived in Little Creek Mich., and her son was a pupil in the public schools.

Mr. Hazel, the father, was a Grand Trunk engineer, and with Mrs. Hazel, figured prominently in railroad circles. Harvey was about 15 years old and sang in St. Thomas' Episcopal choir in Battle Creek.

It is probable the body of Mrs. Hazel will be taken to Battle Creek for interment.

ITCHING ECZEMA FIFTY-FIVE YEARS

Suffered Torments from Birth — Boils Formed as Big as Walnuts — In Frightful Condition and Could Hardly Work — Tried All Kinds of Remedies to No Avail — At Last

WHOLLY CURED IN 8 MONTHS BY CUTICURA

"I had an itching, tormenting eczema ever since I came into the world, and I am now a man fifty-five years old. I tried all kinds of medicines I heard of, but found no relief. I was truly in a frightful condition. At last my blood was so bad that I broke out all over with red and white boils, which kept growing until they were as big as walnuts, causing great pain and misery. I thought they would take the skin off my whole body, but I kept from scratching as well as I could. I was so run down that I could hardly do my work. Mr. Nelson R. Burnett recommended the use of Cuticura Remedies, telling me he was confident they would benefit me, and in time, cure me. I used the Cuticura Soap, Ointment, Resolvent, and Pills for about eight months, and I can truthfully say I am cured. I cordially recommend Cuticura Remedies to all who are afflicted the same as I was, believing that, if they will use them according to directions, they will find them all they are represented to be. Any one doubting the truth of the above can write to Mr. Burnett, who will cheerfully vouch for my statements."

"Hale Bordwell, R. F. D. 3, Cedar Corners, Tipton, Ia., Aug. 17, 1907."

"I cheerfully endorse the above testimonial. It is the truth. I know Mr. Bordwell and know the condition he was in. He never tires of praising the Cuticura Remedies."

"Nelson R. Burnett, Tipton, Ia."

Gentle anointments with Cuticura, the great Skin Cure, preceded by warm baths with Cuticura Soap, followed in the severer forms, with mild doses of Cuticura Resolvent Pills, afford instant relief, permit rest and sleep, and point to a speedy cure of torturing, disgusting, itching, burning, and scaly humors, eczemas, rashes, and inflammations, from infancy to age.

Cuticura Soap (25c) to Cleanse the Skin, Cuticura Ointment (50c) to Heal the Skin, and Cuticura Resolvent Pills (50c) to Purify the Blood. Sold throughout the world. Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props., Boston, Mass.

MONAGHAN TALKS TO SCHOOL CHILDREN

The pupils of the St. James school on the North side enjoyed a treat yesterday morning in the form of an address by Professor Monaghan. Through Father Murphy's influence he consented to talk to the pupils and his address was interesting throughout.

In the course of his address, he showed by the lives of famous men, how the ordinary school boy or girl has all the advantages of those of more "wealthy surroundings, and that the highest points attainable are only attained after perseverance and hard work. He took for example the life of Louis Pasteur, the eminent French scientist, and showed how he as a poor boy started out with nothing but an active brain and plenty of perseverance. After years of constant work and study he reached a point where his work was authority on scientific and medical questions.

He went on to some length and impressed strongly upon the minds of the pupils their opportunities and his address was appreciated.

BOWLERS OF NORTH SIDE WIN AGAIN

NORTHWEST IN BRIEF

ROCK CREEK, Minn.—Ole Christenson has shipped 500 fatted sheep to the Chicago market. These made up the first through carloads ever shipped out of Pine county.

FARGO, N. D.—Mrs. John W. Miller, the mulatto wife of a white man in this city, is in a critical condition as a result of eating rat poison with suicidal intent. She had been drinking heavily recently and objected to the criticisms of her husband on her habits. After a remonstrance she began eating the poison till prevented by her husband.

BIRD ISLAND, Minn.—A Sunday school institute for all schools in the county has just been held here. Addresses were made by the state secretary, A. M. Locker, E. A. Cook of Brainerd and others.

BRainerd, Minn.—The Minnesota and International railroad begins mail service to International Falls Feb. 3. The service extends only to Big Falls.

DES MOINES, Ia.—That the American liberty bell was cracked by a lie is the sensational statement made by Mrs. Mary Cogshall of this city in an address before the Business Women's Professional league here. She says the bell when it purported to ring out liberty through out the land was untrue; that it only assured liberty and protection to men and not women. She said its assurance would never be fulfilled until women are permitted to help govern the country.

FERGUS FALLS, Minn.—James Elliott, of the firm of Elliott & Whitson, was severely injured by being struck by an ice hook while putting up ice at the firm's icehouse here. The heavy hook swung around and struck him across the face, breaking his nose, and the hook caught him under the jaw and tore a terrible gash in his throat, narrowly missing the jugular vein.

IVANHOE, Minn.—Joseph Helvise, a resident of Ivanhoe, lost a thumb, torn off from his hand Saturday afternoon in an unusual manner. He was leading a horse and had the rope partly wrapped around one thumb. A dog snapped at the horse's heels, and the animal plunged forward, jerking the thumb entirely from the man's hand.

YOUTH FINDS BODY OF FATHER HANGING

FERGUS FALLS, Minn., Jan. 29. —A message from Lake View township, across the line in Becker county, says that Andrew Munson, a prominent farmer, who has resided there for twenty-five years, committed suicide by hanging himself in his barn. Mr. Munson seemed to be in usual health and spirits; ate a hearty dinner and went out to the barn. Two hours later his youngest son, a boy of ten years, tried to open the barn door and found it locked. He went to a window and, peering in, saw his father's body swinging from a rafter. He had fastened the rope around the rafter; climbed upon a box and placing his neck in the noose had kicked the box from under him. He was fifty-six years old; was prosperous, and there is no cause known for his act.

ALLEGED ROBBER NABBED BY POLICE

Word has been received from Minneapolis stating that John Bischof, formerly of this city and a nephew of Albert Bischof, 1564 Denton street, has been captured by the police department at Minneapolis after being traced for the past two months from New Jersey to Minneapolis.

Bischof was a member of a gang of thieves who had been looting freight cars in the yards at Minneapolis for about a year and a few months ago the gang was discovered and part of them arrested and are now serving time. Among those escaping was Bischof, but the police got track of him in New Jersey and followed him to Minneapolis, where he was arrested last Friday. He is held on a charge of grand larceny.

AGED RESIDENT OF COON VALLEY DIES

Mrs. Lalia Katrine Anderson, a resident of Coon Valley for the past 50 years, died yesterday at the home of her son, K. G. Anderson of Chaseburg after an illness of two weeks with pneumonia.

No man can be at his best with a poor digestion. If you have lost appetite and can't digest what you eat, drop the usual heavy meats and gravies, puddings and pies, and live for a time principally on Grape-Nuts and cream.

If you've never tried it, there's a real treat in store for you.

Grape-Nuts can be easily digested by the weakest stomach and soon strengthens the digestive organs so that a "variety" of food can be eaten with comfort. Be sensible. Don't put off the test. "There's a reason." Read "The Road to Wellville" in pkgs.

MAY ABANDON "JUNIOR PROM"

MADISON, Wis., Jan. 29.—(Special.)—That this may be the last year for the holding of the "junior prom," the swellest social function of the college year, is the prediction made by many of the university students, who declare that the faculty's methods of supervision and regulation of prices has made further holding of the function impossible. The present charge for a ticket is $2 as compared to a charge of $6 two years ago. Less tickets have been sold this year than ever before and although only 20 boxes were planned this year, two have not been sold. To cut expenses the students in order to come out even will have to omit the supper which was usually included in the ticket price.

Last year the fraternity students acquiesced in the regulative methods of the faculty. This year the faculty came around with more stringent rules and the members have been notified that after this year the usual house parties at prom time must be omitted. This has caused a furor in the university section. The rise in prices over last year has prevented anything elaborate in decorations this year and the students declare that the dance has degenerated as a result into nothing more than one of the ordinary serial parties of the city. The faculty takes the stand that a charge above $3 is sufficient and the university would be criticised if a function more expensive and elaborate were allowed. Under such circumstances the students declare that next year the prom will be abandoned.

FORMER SLAVE DIES; FREED BY LINCOLN

Mrs. Clara Virginia Johnson, who in the year 1865 was set free by the emancipation proclamation of former President Lincoln from serving bondage in the southern states, died Sunday morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Emma Smith, 206 North Seventh street, after suffering for a number of years with dropsy and Bright's disease.

Mrs. Johnson was born July 1, 1842, in Augusta, Ga., and served as a slave until 1865. Twenty years later with her husband, Robert Johnson, since deceased, they came north and settled in La Crosse. Mrs. Johnson had won much renown in this city as a chef and some years ago few parties of note were given that she did not help in the kitchen.

She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Emma Smith, and four grandchildren, Amy, Lillian, Joseph and Richard Smith, all living in this city. The funeral took place yesterday at 2:30 from the residence of Rev. J. S. Lowe conducting the services and interment took place at the Oak Grove cemetery. Frank Tillman was in charge.

A GREAT SUCCESS.

The Toland School this year has the largest attendance in its history. Further than this, the year just closed records the greatest number of young people sent to positions, being something over three hundred. This is phenomenal, and certainly justifies the manager, Leigh Toland, in stating that it is a record unequalled to date by any school in this country. Few people know that there is not a civilized country on the globe where the Toland School is not represented. The question of business education for the young man or woman who must "do something" has been settled long ago. It is the best proposition that can be offered. Another question also that is about settled, is that the Toland School hasn't a superior in the United States. This is pretty strong, but the facts prove it, and people foreign to La Crosse understand it better than some of us nearer, although it is safe to say that every office force of consequence in the city is dominated by Toland students. New York, Boston and Chicago, cannot show better courses and when it comes to successful graduates, well, it takes a "right smart" list to total five thousand who have made good, and that's what the Toland School does. Yes, this is a boast, and we are glad to give it. Guess we haven't missed our guess very far when Gov. Johnson of Minn., Elbert Hubbard, ex-Gov. Van Sant, La Follette, the Hills of the Great Northern, and a host of others endorse Leigh Toland and his methods, the Toland School and its graduates.

RECEIVERS FOR NEW ELECTRIC RY. CO.

CHICAGO, Jan. 29.—The Chicago and Milwaukee Electric railroad company for the second time within a month went into the hands of receivers yesterday. This time it is a friendly receivership in the court of United States Judge Grosscup instead of the unfriendly affair in State Judge Tuthill's court a few weeks ago.

A. C. Frost & Co., the concern formed by the president of the railway to finance its construction, also was placed in a receivership.

Upon allegations that the railroad is financially embarrassed and complete its line into Milwaukee, Judge Grosscup was asked late in the afternoon for the railway the court appointed W. Irving Osborne, vice president of the Central Trust company; D. B. Hanna, vice president of the Canadian Northern Railway, Toronto, Can., and Albert C. Frost, president of the Chicago and Milwaukee Electric railroad company. As receiver for A. C. Frost & Co. the court appointed George M. Seward, a broker who formerly was secretary of the railway company.

HINDOO THIEF IS CAUGHT BY SMILE

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Jan. 28.—Sahi N. Buchakji, who describes himself on his business cards as a "Hindoo fakir" and "fortune teller," was arrested on information furnished the police by Prince Ranji Smile, who is here teaching society how to cook. Buchakji is held pending an investigation of the theft of $20,000 worth of oriental silks from the V. F. P. Bhungara company of India, for which he worked at Jamestown during the exposition. Since then he has served as assistant to Prince Ranji, who is a brother of the ameer of Beloochistan. The prince noticed that his servant had a surprising lot of oriental veils embroidered with gold, and notified the company's agent at Atlantic City.

KAISER WILHELM 49 YEARS OLD

BERLIN, Jan. 29.—Emperor Wilhelm was 49 years old Monday. He was "awakened" according to the immemorial birthday custom by the fanfaring by the palace trumpeters and the singing of a hymn by the acstle choir at 8 o'clock. As a matter of fact, however, the emperor had risen several hours earlier and had disposed of a variety of state documents by the time the singing began, after which he appeared at a window in the castle overlooking the court where the musicians were gathered. His majesty, dressed in a field marshal's uniform, greeted the choristers and received the congratulations of the visiting princes.

MANKATO OFFICER IS CENTER OF RIOT

CLAIMS PREDECESSOR AIDED PRISONERS

MANKATO, Minn., Jan. 29.—As the result of a riot that took place in this city late Saturday night and early Sunday morning, several arrests were made yesterday. The trouble started in a fight between two young men of the town, and when Officer John Wirsching, who is new on the police force, undertook to arrest the parties he was prevented, he claims, by his rednecked on the force, Henry Barr, and the latter's uncle. While they held him, he says, the prisoners were enabled to escape.

Yesterday Fallenstein was arrested on the charge of starting a riot and abusing the officer. Henry Barr and Frank Barr, his uncle, on the charge of resisting an officer in the performance of his duty, and the two young fellows who were charged with fighting. All denied the charges.

Do You Think For Yourself

Or, Do You Open Your Mouth Like a Young Bird and Gulp Down Whatever Food or Medicine May be Offered You?

If you are an intelligent, thinking woman, in need of relief from weakness, nervousness, pain and suffering, then it means much to you to know that there is one tried and true, honest medicine OF KNOWN COMPOSITION, sold by druggists for the cure of woman's ills.

The makers of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, for the cure of weak, nervous, run-down, over-worked, debilitated, pain-racked women, knowing this medicine to be made up of ingredients, every one of which was the strongest possible endorsement of the leading and standard authorities of the several schools of medical practice, are not afraid to print, as they do, the list of ingredients, of which it is composed, in plain English, on every bottle-wrapper.

The formula of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will bear the most critical examination of medical experts, for it contains no alcohol, so injurious to delicate women even in small quantities when long continued. Neither does it contain any narcotics, or other harmful, enters into it that is not highly recommended by the most advanced and authoritative of their several schools of internal practice. These authorities recommend the ingredients of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for the cure of exactly the same ailments for which this world-famed medicine is advised by its manufacturer.

has any such professional endorsement as Dr. Pierce's favorite Prescription has received, in the unqualified recommendation of each of the several ingredients by scores of leading medical men, and the endorsement of the highest authorities in the profession, is an endorsement not worthy of your consideration? It certainly is entitled to far more weight than any number

A booklet of ingredients, with numerous authoritative professional endorsements by the leading medical authorities of this country, will be mailed free to any one sending name and address with request for same. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a scientific medicine, carefully devised by an experienced and skillful physician, and adapted to woman's delicate system. It is made of native American medicinal roots and is perfectly harmless in its effects in any condition of the female

As a powerful invigorating tonic "Favorite Prescription" imparts strength to the whole system and to the organs distinctly feminine in particular. For overworked, "worn-out," run-down, debilitated teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seamstresses, "shop-girls," house-keepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon. It is also a most appetizing cordial and restorative tonic.

For soothing and strengthening nervous system, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, over 40 years ago, much more than ever equaled. One to three or four sugar-coated granules taken at a time.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Dietetic is a most potent alternative, or blood purifier, and tonic, or invigorator, and especially favorably in a curative treatment of all diseases of the mucous membranes of the nasal passages, throat, bronchial tubes, stomach, bowels and bladder, a large per cent. of catarrhs of the bladder, and of the mucous membranes of the throat, larynx, and stomach (as catarrhal dyspepsia).

As a soothing and strengthening nerve "Favorite Prescription" is unequaled and is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, irritability, (as mucous diarrhea) bladder, uterine and other pelvic organs. Even in the most ulcerative stages of these affections it is often successful in affecting cur-

PEOPLE CREATURES OF HABIT

New Pastor of North Presbyterian Church Talks Interestingly of Our Inclinations.

Rev. A. A. Randall, who recently came to La Crosse from Illinois as pastor of the North Presbyterian church on Monday delivered an interesting paper before the La Crosse Pastors' union upon the subject of "The Earmarks of Scholarship." The paper was thoroughly enjoyed, and was as follows:

The Earmarks of Scholarship.

We are all creatures of habit. And as it is the habit of ministers to speak upon the authority or suggestion of some text, we shall do so this time. We are to deal with things intellectual, however; and so we should start with some purely intellectual authority.

In speaking of a certain class of writers, Dean Farrar once made this very significant statement: "They set forth the conclusions which are now universally accepted by the foremost European scholars, because they appeal with irresistible cogency to their reason and moral sense." Here we have an appeal to the authority of scholarship; the like of which is becoming very common in their later times. Certain theories are said to be supported by the consensus of opinion among scholars; and that settles the matter.

Abstracting

adulterated food, or the mind by false representations of the truth?

The standard of reliability in dealing with things intellectual is what we term scholarship. Hence the force of the appeal voiced by our text. Any conclusion universally accepted by the foremost scholars certainly is worthy our respect, for it has at least a prima facie reliability.

But this does not bring us to finality in the matter of intellectual authority.

One boy maintained that a certain thing was true because his father said so. "But," said the other boy, "your father does not know anything about it." And there you have the problem in a nutshell: which boy was in the right of it?

Professor P. D. L. L. D. finds that certain things which appeal to him with "irresistible cogency" appear to others to be sheer nonsense. But the good professor is not surprised; they are not scholars anyhow.

Here we touch the gist of the whole matter. Why are they not scholars? Because they do not agree with the professor. Thus you have the circle completed. And woe betide the man whose intellectual processes do not move within it.

"The small pebble stirs the peaceful lake;

The circle mov'd, a circle straight succeeds,

Another still, and still another spreads."

Now, do not for a moment entertain the idea that the purpose of this paper is to discredit the authority of scholarship. The writer is not a student; when the Apostle Paul did, when he protested, not against wisdom, but against the so-called wisdom of his time, with its false philosophies based upon shallow egotism—the echo of which was, What is truth anyhow? The world has always had its intellectual Simons who have amazed the people by their self-assumed greatness. And the present age is no exception.

Put the mere assumption of that distinction does not make one a scholar any more than the wearing of long hair or a pair of tortoiseshell spectacles.

Indeed, we may go much further than this in the negative characterization of scholarship. Contrary to quite a popular conception, one may have read many books, and still come short of the mark. He may have studied much, and still be no nearer it. In fact, a very manifest weakness of our American system of education is its strong tendency to produce intellectual sausages rather than vigorous, accurate, scientific thinkers. A sausage may be ever so juicy and highly flavored; but it still remains a very disorganized being; and we can not help entertaining a doubt as to the character of its contents.

Again: He declares that this universal acceptance is "because they appeal with irresistible cogency to their reason and moral sense." If this declaration be true, then the logical deduction is, that those who reject such conclusions must be sadly deficient either in reason or in moral sense. In other words, they are either fools or knaves.

But if this seems like a rather uncharitable interpretation of the good Dean's words, there is another phase of the matter which still renders any such declaration very significant. We are living in an age of great intellectual achievement. The field of research is universe-wide; the papers are many, they wield their sickles with the skill of long experience; and the storehouses of truth are being enlarged every day. But humanity has its limitations. Our brains are no larger than the brains of those who lived in the days of Plato. There are still only twenty-four hours in the day. These limitations necessitate specialization. Single phases of intellectual attainment have now become so large that it is the work of a lifetime to master any one of them.

And not only this: But we are living in an intensely practical age. The magnitude of the funds of truth at our command is matched by the highness and intensity of our activities; the practical application of truth. This necessitates still further specialization. The worker has little opportunity for purely intellectual attainment. As the carpenter of today has his material prepared for him by those who labor in the saw mill and planing mill, so they who build truth into life must in great measure depend upon the scholars to prepare their material for them. Cooperation, mutual dependence and mutual confidence between the thinkers and the workers is a necessary present day condition.

And especially is all this true in its application to the work of the minister. Today, as never before, the preacher of the gospel must be a man of action. The demands upon his time and strength outside the study are beyond measure. What is he going to do about it? He is still a shepherd; but the new phases of that work render it no longer possible for him to cut and cure the fodder which daily must be placed in the feed-rack. This he must depend upon some one else to do, or let the flock starve.

Now, intellectual food, like physical food, may be genuine; or it may be food only in name. There is intellectual meat; and there is intellectual pie. There is that which gives strength, and promotes growth; though it be somewhat unpalatable; and there is that which tickles the taste, but gives no nourishment—perhaps even poisons.

One question, then, with the practical man is, How are we going to insure ourselves against the false, the impure and bad?

Well there are as yet no "pure food laws" in the realm of intellectuality. As far as concerns human authority, every man sees to it still, as of old. Only a few months ago we had to depend entirely upon the reliability of the manufacturer or wholesaler for pure foods for the body. Today we are protected by the state which makes it a penal offense to misrepresent any foodstuff offered for sale. In the exchange of truth, however, we must still depend entirely upon the wholesaler. And yet, which is the greater offense, to poison the body with been made by amateurs, and that great scholars have risen in the most obscure corners. Hugh Miller was a common stone mason—or, uncommon one, perhaps we had better say, Dr. Groefend, who discovered the key to the cuneiform inscriptions, was a German rector and schoolmaster until his scholarly attainments forced him upon the attention of the universities. Henry Rawlinson who gave this key its first turn in unlocking the storehouses of ancient lore, was an officer in the English army. Edward Hincks, now considered by many to have been the most acute of all philologists, was pastor of a North Ireland country parish.

Time and again academicians have had their structures of assumption, hypothesis and theory knocked into a heap of rubbish by the observation of some plebeian. Socrates with his impertinent—or rather, pertinent questions, was always a nuisance to the would-be intellectual aristocrat. They poisoned Socrates to get rid of him; but he is not dead yet.

Another thing in connection with this scholarly modesty is worthy our notice: it forbids dogmatism on the strength of mere human authority.

Dogmatism is manifest in the spirit of one's declarations, rather than in the matter of them. Categorical assertion of any kind; and the implied demand for unquestioning acceptance, this is dogmatism. And the worst form is, when that assertion is in the form of a, Thus say I.

When a student, the writer had the privilege of listening to a paper read by a man who has become famous for his radical utterances along certain lines. His opening sentences were a severe arraignment of the old dogmatism. But, even as an unsophisticated student, we could not help noticing the dominating spirit of the address. From beginning to end it was itself couched in the most intensely, and even offensively dogmatic language. Not a suggestion of possible fallibility on the part of the writer. Solely upon the authority of his own opinion all other authorities were contemptuously swept aside. The most radical conclusions were set forth without a single reason being presented for accepting them, except the fact that he made them.

Scholarship will at least have a becoming respect for the opinions of others. Insolent bigotry and offensive egotism are certainly entirely out of keeping with it. Depend upon it, he who has no manly regard for the opinions of others will not scruple to warp the truth to fit his own.

This brings us to the second earmark of scholarship.

Honesty. Intellectual honesty stands for even more than business honesty. The business man is dealing with things within the sphere of individual ownership. Not so with the scholar. He deals with that in which there is universal right. The element of self is here supposed to be entirely eradicated. Here is the true socialism. Truth for truth's sake, truth for the world, regardless of personal reputation or benefit; a community of interests, in which all must work for the common good.

Intellectual honesty has many phases. Let us notice a few of them.

First—it demands that one speak in unequivocal terms.

To be afraid to say just what one means savors strongly of cowardice. And cowardice we all know is a basic element in most dishonesty. To leave a loop-hole for escape in case one finds himself driven into a logical error is to betray one's confidence in his own conclusions. And if one can not have confidence in his own conclusions, what does it mean if he asks others to have confidence in them? Truth suffers nothing by being couched in unimpeachable language; error loves to lurk amid the shadows of equivocation.

Closely related to equivocation is the deliberate misuse of terms.

Says Robert South: "Words are the signs and symbols of things; and as in accounts, cyphers and symbols pass for real sums, so, in the course of affairs, words and names pass for things themselves." Words are intellectual coin. They are the medium by the use of which the exchange of thought is made possible. They must therefore have a definite value; and that value should be treated as a sacred thing. They are public property; and their misuse is a crime against humanity. To use a word in a perverted sense is as dishonest as to change the denomination of a greenback and it is vastly more far-reaching in its results. To steal a word for one's own private purpose is to steal from the public treasury of intellectual attainment; for it is largely in words that the scholarship of the ages is treasured.

And not only this; but in the crystallization of thought certain words have gained a sort of sacred prestige. To take one of these words, and make it stand for some new idea, is to steal that prestige. Verbal brigandage, especially in the name of science, is by no means an uncommon crime among writers of the present time.

It certainly is not scholarly honesty to misrepresent the position of those whose opinions do not coincide with one's own.

The most contemptible dishonesty is, bearing false witness against one's neighbor. And in the realm of truth we should be neighbors in the very best sense of the word. The scholar is not a lawyer, bound to win his case anyhow, by hook or crook. His one object is to get at the truth. The struggle for truth must, from the very nature of the case, be a fair one. In the open, on level ground, face to face, and no fouls. He who has truth on his side need never fear to have his opponent appear in fair light. To take an unfair advantage by misrepresenting that opponent's position is to confess weakness in one's own cause, and to stultify one's own scholarship.

The spirit of scholarship forbids withholding the facts upon which one's conclusions are based.

Truth is not afraid to present its credentials. Indeed the withholding of such credentials is intellectual dishonesty. The public is asked to accept the conclusions, and it has a right to know from whence, and by what processes they are derived.

Some time ago we wrote a professor in one of our theological seminaries, asking if he knew of any work in the English language giving in concise form the principal arguments for certain radical conclusions, with the facts upon which they are based. The man addressed stands second to few in this country in his knowledge of standard works upon biblical and theological subjects. His general sympathy with the radical opinions in question is also well known. But his answer to our inquiry was a candid confession that no such book had as yet been published. Dozens of books have been published setting forth the conclusions, which we are to accept under the threat of being denounced as unscholarly; but not one, giving us in a concise, concise and gettable way the material which will enable us to decide the matter for ourselves.

When in ordinary intercourse with men, a stranger asks our confidence, the very fact that he brings our credulity to present, arouses our suspicions as to his honesty. Should we be any less suspicious when in the sphere of intellectual intercourse our confidence is asked in new things whose credentials are persistently withheld?

Scholarly honesty also forbids the suppression of facts which seem to compromise one's conclusions.

In legal procedure, a witness is sworn to tell all the truth bearing upon the case. To violate this oath is perjury, a crime deserving the severest penalties. To suppress facts is just as culpable as to misrepresent them—indeed, it may in the end result in even greater harm. What then, if in the great intellectual court, where there is supposed to be no such thing as self-interest, one willfully suppress a single fact which may have a bearing upon the formation of an opinion?

The true scholar, regardless of his own reputation in his zeal for the truth, will not be slow to acknowledge mistakes. This is in keeping with scholarly modesty; it is mainly, it is honest. Once a wrong has been done, it is manly and honest to do all one can to rectify it. Shall we expect less when error has by mistake been published in the name of truth?

A case in hand—Some months ago the editor of a popular American periodical made a very radical assertion based upon the alleged fact that the use of the term Chaldaean as in the book of Daniel, to represent a guild or class of wise men, was known till 400 years afterward. An English scholar of note humbly asked him to turn to the Herodotus of his school days, where he would find the word used with exactly this meaning by one who lived in the very century that Daniel did. In a private letter to the friendly critic, the mistake was cordially admitted. But what of the thousands of readers of the periodical in which the error was published as truth? Not one of them ever heard of the admission. By his own wilful refusal to speak they were left in absolute ignorance of the fact that they had an untruth fastened upon them in the name of scholarship. Although the matter was directly brought to his attention no effort was made to set it right by the boasted exponent of truth.

A third element in the spirit of scholarship is Scientific Accuracy.

Time will not permit us to more than mention a few of the things which this forbids.

(1)—Conclusions from an insufficient collation of facts.

(2)—Conclusions based upon unverified facts.

(3)—Conclusions from facts which may be as well, or better explained in some other way.

(4)—Conclusions which are positively invalidated by even a single well authenticated fact.

(5)—The substitution of assumption for fact.

(6)—Attributing certainty to that which as yet is only theory.

Let us not forget that the word scientific stands for accuracy. Loose deductions based upon assumed general principles are not scientific. Nothing less than consistent induction from absolutely certain facts will fill the bill.

The last element in the spirit of scholarship of which we shall speak is Consistency.

Some months ago Dr. H. C. Bastian published an article in a leading periodical on "The Riddle of Life," probably his last tilt on the hobby which he had ridden for about forty years, viz., the spontaneous generation of life. In this article he declared—and I quote his exact words—that the "special creation hypothesis is a notion no longer entertained by the majority of scientific men, because of the absence of all strict evidence for the occurrence of miracles of any kind, either now or in the past."

In lieu of this old notion he enthusiastically accepts, and advocates as scientific the theory of a passing from the non-living to the living by "natural synthetic processes;" in other words, by natural chemical reactions.

Now note the inconsistency. He contemptuously casts aside the old theory because it involves the miraculous. The miraculous is impossible to him, because of a lack of evidence to support it. But how about the spontaneous generation theory which he does accept enthusiastically? His own explicit statement in the same article is that it also is unsupported by any "positive evidence." And yet not only does he accept this theory hypothetically, but declares that it is established "beyond the possibility of a doubt."

Another example of this sort of a thing came to our attention some time ago. It was in an address delivered by a quite noted professor of zoology in a Canadian university before a Christian association. One of the things he strenuously insisted upon was, that the opinions of ministers and theologians were well enough in the sphere of their own specialty; but they should not presume to speak upon matters of science. Now we all know it is a poor rule that does not work both ways. This man's specialty is zoology. And yet, contrary to his own declared rule of scholarly conduct, we here find him addressing, not a class in zoology, but a Christian association on the subject of "Religious Belief." The range of his remarks covered biology, theology, psychology, philosophy, history, Biblical criticism and rabbinical learning, and kindred subjects. Opinions were expressed concerning Paul, Hegel, Kant, Huxley, John Stewart Mill, Clifford Wallace, Browning the Puritans and Calvinists in general and even Adam. All this, by a modest professor of zoology! And yet, according to this self-assumed scholar's own dictum, when the preacher dares have an opinion concerning the practical authority of the scriptures in religious matters, he must be put down as an egotist and bigot—and is accused of getting out of his sphere.

Modesty, honesty, scientific accuracy, consistency! what right has any one to pose as a leader of thought unless these are clearly manifest in the spirit of his words and works?

In these later days we are having impressed upon us in most startling manner the corrupting power of selfishness. Selfishness which regards not the right of others, this is the most effective block to present-day progress in the financial, political and social world. Egotism is intellectual selfishness. Egotism which forbids intellectual humility, intellectual honesty, scientific accuracy of thought, and intellectual consistency! this the most effective block of all to progress in the realm of truth.

The vast proportion of us, especially those who must bear the burden of life's work, can never expect to be great scholars. But, in so far as our attitude toward truth is humble, honest, scientific and consistent, we may be at heart scholarly.

FARGO, N. D.—Carl Skue, a drayman of Hunter, was arrested today charged with poisoning a team of horses at the livery stable of Peter Hoy at Hunter, Dec. 22. Skue was brought to Fargo and arraigned this evening and his case continued till tomorrow. His bond was fixed at $500, in default of which he was committed to the Cass county jail. He declares he is innocent.

Waldo Man Intimidated by Dealers
—Postal Authorities Start Immediate Investigation.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Jan. 29.—A threat to dynamite a milkman's plant at Waldo, Wis., sent through the United States mails from Milwaukee, has brought the attention of the postal authorities to the milk war in Waukesha and Milwaukee counties. It is probable that the government will investigate the troubles, which are now assuming dangerous proportions.

In the meantime, the Milwaukee dealers are standing out against the demands of the Waukesha county combine in the interests of which drastic measures to bring the independent shippers to time are being made.

Independent Is Threatened.

The dynamite threat has been brought to the attention of Postoffice Inspector Ralph Bird. It was contained in an anonymous letter, mailed in this city on Saturday, Jan. 25, at 1:30 p. m., and which was sent to a large independent dealer near Waldo, whose name, it is desired, be withheld for the present. The writer of the threat spells dynamite, "dinimite," but his meaning is nevertheless clear. He says:

"If you send another can of milk to Milwaukee dealers after today your plant will go up with dinimite in ten next six months."

Police Believe Janesville Dressmaker and Chorus Girl Were Slain

JANESVILLE, Wis., Jan. 29.—S. S. Jones of Clinton, chairman of the county board of supervisors, is expected here today when the question of offering a reward of $200 for the solution of the mystery of the death of Miss Josephine Malone will be taken up, also hiring a detective to conduct a thorough investigation.

F. P. Gordon of Milwaukee, representing himself as the man who unraveled a mysterious murder near Wausau some months ago, is here. He agrees with five of the six physicians who examined the body that the marks on the throat may be those of a thumb and three fingers of some mysterious assailant.

It is learned that a well known local woman, whose name is withheld, was seized at the west approach of the Court street bridge one evening, a fortnight ago, and dragged toward a box car on the Janesville Machine company's siding. Her screams and the footfalls of persons hurrying to her aid are said to have caused the unknown assailant to release his hold and make for some neighboring lumber piles where he disappeared.

Developments have convinced the local authorities that with Josephine Malone and Madlyn Clayton alike met death at the hands of a degenerate or maniac.

BLACK RIVER REDS HAVE EASY WINTER

BLACK RIVER FALLS, Wis., Jan. 29.—Up to the present date the Indians have had a remarkable winter. There has been little suffering among them and there has been a few number of deaths from consumption than has been known for many years. The weather has been mild and a large number of them worked on the big Hatfield dam and saved their wages and are now living in comfort. The new matron and Agent A. P. Jones are doing all they can to get the red men to adopt some kind of system relative to their marriage relation. Mr. Jones has been harassed so much in the settlement of estates that he thinks this the only way to remedy the matter. The Indians have kept no record of any kind relative to their marriages, and when one of them dies it is next to impossible to fix upon the legal heir. Many of them have valuable holdings in Nebraska and other places.

Mr. Jones proposes to keep a record of their marriages upon which the claims for inheritance shall be based.
